What sets Bryant’s program apart?

1. Globally Focused Curriculum
   - One of the few programs in the country that offers concentrations in business functions including: Accounting, Entrepreneurship, Finance, Global Supply Chain Management, Human Resource Management, Information Systems, Leadership and Innovation, Marketing, or Team and Project Management.
   - Faculty from diverse cultures with rich international work experiences bring a global mindset into the classroom, adding a vital dimension to student learning and success.

2. Real Projects, Real Companies, Real Experience
   - Set yourself apart from the competition by pairing an international internship with study abroad, one of three internship experiences available to International Business students.
   - Learn to apply classroom learning as a member of a team of student consultants helping regional businesses develop strategies for international expansion.

3. The John H. Chafee Center for International Business
   - Located on the Bryant campus, the Chafee Center provides international trade services to help businesses to expand into global markets.
   - This “living laboratory” allows you and your team, working in collaboration with faculty and staff, to obtain firsthand experience with the challenges of global competition.
   - As a part of the senior year International Business Practicum, you work on real-world consulting projects for Chafee Center partner companies, conducting research, and analyses, and developing actionable strategic plans.

International Business Graduates Are in Demand

Our distinctive program, ranked No. 3 nationally, will immerse you in real projects with real companies fostering exceptional international experience.

Why Study International Business at Bryant?

Our curriculum is globally focused from your first semester. You will achieve proficiency in a second language by studying and working abroad, deepening your global perspective.

Through our unique senior practicum, you will consult for a company facing a real-world international business challenge.

What sets Bryant’s International Business program apart is that it’s very real-world oriented. My International Business Practicum offered a dry run in consulting: we had real clients and we delivered real results. I was able to learn about what consulting actually entails and I got to see how my education, my experience, and my skills fit into that role. It helped me to solidify my path."
Bryant’s International Business faculty members hail from diverse cultures and have attained the highest credentials in their fields of study from top research universities in the United States. Many have rich work experience with multinational companies. They bring this global mindset into the classroom, adding a vital dimension to your learning and success. These caring and supportive professors get to know you as an individual in our close-knit, student-centered community.

CRYSTAL JIANG
Professor of Management
International Business Program Director
- She is an Executive Board Member of the Academy of International Business Northeast Chapter, and Area Editor and Associate Editor, New England Journal of Entrepreneurship.
- Her work has been published in top management and business journals worldwide.
- She is a former investment manager for the China Qingdao Foreign Economic and Trade Committee and the Chamber of International Commerce.

OLIVIA DAVIS ’17
Assistant Manager, Technical Logistics – Transportation
NBC Sports Group, Stamford, CT

“I was encouraged to further explore my passions which ultimately led to me landing my dream job. All of the programs and opportunities I had at Bryant were helpful in my career search. My work experience in Shanghai, part of my study abroad program, was one of the most discussed topics throughout my interviews and is one of the reasons I am where I am today.”

PHILLIP KIM ’16
Solutions Consultant at Collective Health

“The IB program gave me mobility and encouragement to step outside my ‘professional comfort zone.’ From growing analytical curiosity on international markets to sharpening financial modeling skills, the professors uniquely cultivate instances that have translated from IB101 to my current cases.”

THE INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS FACULTY INCLUDES:
- A former investment manager for the State Economic and Trade Committee in China
- A management professor who has taught in MBA and executive MBA programs in 14 countries.
- A professor whose research won Best International Paper in the Organizational Behavior division of the Academy of Management.
- A recipient of a Nasdaq Educational Foundation Grant Award.

Cultural competency is talked about a great deal in International Business classes – it’s important to understand how to be able to work with people across cultures. Through my International Business capstone, I was able to use the concepts I had learned in my classes in a real-life setting. That’s not something a lot of people get to do in their coursework elsewhere.
